Foreword . . .

As you peruse this Emblem, today and in the future, you will have a companion in Tillie, the statue. She will help to refresh your memories of happy youth, of worthy achievement, and of friendships that have endured. Memories, pleasant and meaningful, are to be cherished and not permitted to dim or perish in the mind.

The staff has worked long and hard to give you this Emblem, and sincerely hopes that you like it. It is our hope, too, that the graduates have become aware of their educational responsibilities during their practice teaching and that they are eager to take up the challenge presented to them by young people everywhere.

The Editors

CTC has had an ideal friend and teacher in Frances Peickert, head of our music department. During Miss Peickert's many years at CTC she has instilled in her students something of the musician-ship and charm which she possesses. If the pupils of the Chicago Public Schools are being well edu-cated musically, Miss Peickert may rightly claim to have had a part in their development.

FRANCES PEICKERT, M. of M. E.

Dedication

The English Department and the Student Body will feel an immeasurable loss with the retirement of Dr. Hatfield, head of the English Department. In the years he has been at CTC, Dr. Hatfield has given his students a feeling of the value of progressive education. He may rightly claim responsibility for a great number of advancements made in the field of English during his career.

W. WILBUR HATFIELD, Litt. D.

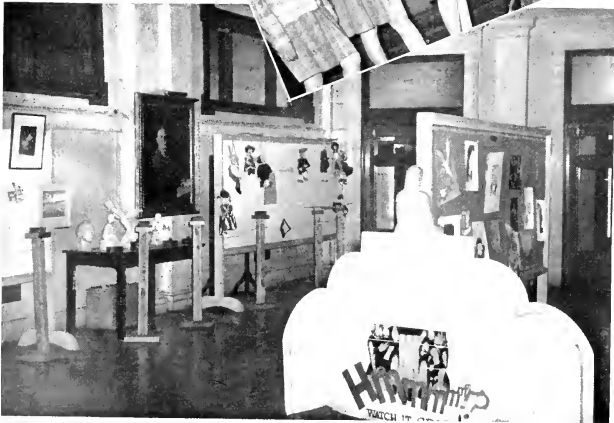

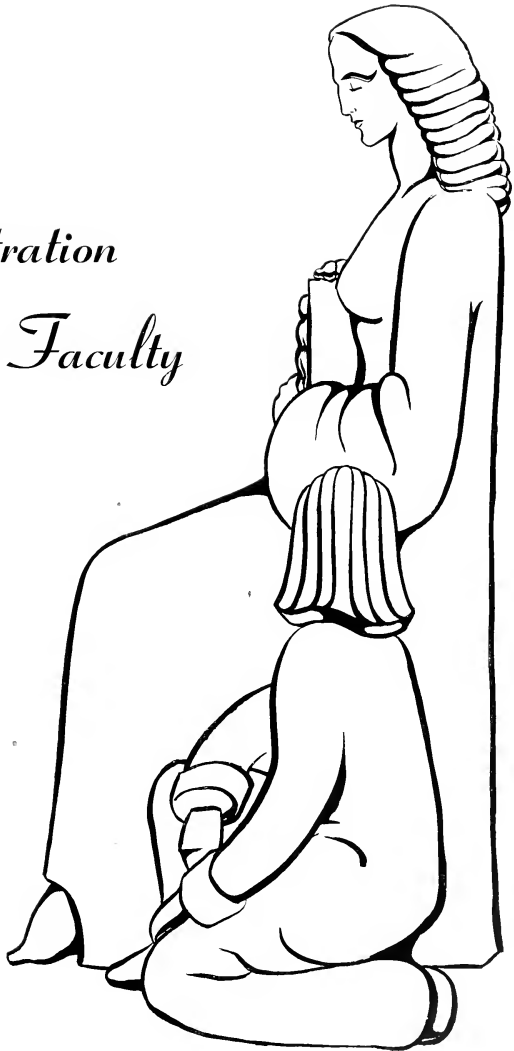

CJC At Work and Play

Administration and Faculty

JAMES
I.
SWEARINGEN

ACTING PRESIDENT

CTC is fortunate in having as President so understanding a person as Mr. James I. Swearingen. Despite his difficult task of heading administration of both Chicago Teachers College and Wilson Junior College, Mr. Swearingen somehow finds time to assist the faculty and the students with their individual problems.

As one of the first persons in the school to advocate the highly successful faculty-student council meetings, he has gained a reputation for democratic administration which might be envied by any college president. The College can look forward to continued progress under his guidance.

The duties of Mr. George Boyle fall into three categories: bursar, veterans' affairs, and materiel. As bursar, Mr. Boyle collects activity fees and manages the financial affairs of the college. He handles veterans' activities and problems. Equally important is Mr. Boyle's job of handling the physical necessities of the school. In spite of the many problems encountered in his department, Mr. Boyle is pleased to be back after serving his country in the U. S. Navy.

GEORGE W. BOYLE, M.A.

Miss Louise Robinson, CTC's patient Dean of Students, is a remarkable person. Anyone else in Miss Robinson's position would be quick and short-tempered, but our Dean is only quick. First there is pre-registration for those not "coming out right" the first time. This makes a full program for Miss Robinson, and we, the student body, would like to thank her for all her help.

LOUISE C. ROBINSON, M.A.

Administration

As Registrar and Director of Personnel, Mrs. Emma Fleer Muller has many responsibilities. Among her duties are: orientation of Freshmen, counseling, assembling data for pre-registration, and compiling the school catalog. Her work also includes checking records, class cards and lists, evaluating and issuing transcripts, and co-operating with the Board of Examiners regarding admissions and withdrawals. It is easy to see why Mrs. Muller is one of the busier persons at CTC.

EMMA FLEER MULLER, B.S.

Directing activities for both Chicago Teachers College and Wilson Junior College, Miss Mary Calnan emerges from a deluge of parties and dances as a gracious and efficient worker. Every day throngs of students dash into room 204A asking for permission to hold various types of social activities and meetings. It is not possible to grant all requests, but Miss Calnan is friendly and considerate to all.

Education

This year the Education Department has had the task of revising the practice teaching schedule from one year to one semester. The course, "Principles of Teaching" was substituted for a semester of practice teaching. Mrs. Margaret Williams and Mr. Ogden Glasow were added to the staff to help the practicing students, and Mrs. Mary Guilbault and Mr. Coleman Hewitt returned to the department.

The "regulars" in the Education Department were kept busy observing one of the principles of education — that of belonging to extra-curricular groups. Dr. Geyer, while acting as secretary for the Chicago Pedegogical Club, managed to write two articles for School and Society. Mr. Thompson, chairman of the Education Committee of the City Club of Chicago, and Mr. Williams, a member of the Northern Illinois Superintendents' Round Table together with Mr. Geyer, are members of PDK, an honorary education society.

The closing of this school year brought the retirement of Dr. Hatfield, head of the department. Citing just two of his activities will help us get a better view of his contributions. In 1921 he became editor of the English Journal and in 1939 founded College English which he also edits. Since 1921 he has been secretary of the National Council of Teachers of English.

Dr. Card, a member of the staff before the reduction in 1941, returned. While away he served as executive director of the Chicago Council of American-Soviet Friendship. Miss Thompson came as a substitute for Dr. Daugherty, on leave.

Miss Jacobs succeeded Miss Camenish, retired, as editor of the Chicago Schools Journal. Dr. Frogner was on the program of the National Council of English convention in Atlantic City.

Music

What was happening in Europe in 1848? — in America in 1789? — what country, south of the United States, is north of Nicaragua? — how to teach map reading to children? — all these questions and more are asked daily in our Social Studies classrooms.

The instructors who answer the above questions, and who ask more of their own are: Dr. Frederick K. Branom, department chairman, who teaches Geography (and who hasn't heard of the Branom Geographies); Dr. Henrietta Fernitz, who handles the "Methods" classes and is sponsor of the International Relations Club and the Senior Class; Harry Osterhart, who teaches both Economic Geography and Principles of Geography; William Kaiser, who is our American History expert; and Dr. Joseph Chada, teacher of European History. With such a faculty it is no wonder that Social Science has one of the largest groups of "trainees" in CTC.

The teachers in the Music Department are Miss Frances Peickert, who is head of the department; Miss Catherine Taheny, Mrs. Elizabeth Hennessey, and Dr. Kathryn Cramer. These teachers are all accomplished musicians, and in addition to their teaching duties, much of their leisure time outside of school is spent in attending concerts and other musical functions. The main purpose of the Music Department, as in other departments, is to train for teaching. In the case of music minors, the purpose is enlarged to include giving an adequate background and foundation in the field of music. It is interesting to note that many music minors have gone on to earn Master's Degrees in music.

Psychology

Under the competent direction of Mr. Edwin Brye the Psychology Department has grown to greater proportion. Two new courses have been added: "Psychology of Personality" and "Psychology of Meaning and Suggestion."

In addition to teaching at CTC, both Mr. Brye and Mr. Eilert belong to the Chicago Psychological Club. Mr. Brye is president of the Club as well as General Chairman of local arrangements for the Mid-Western Psychological Association meeting for 1947.

Although the psychology field as a minor is comparatively recent at CTC, many students are taking advantage of it. Psychology minors have organized a club and have lectures and movies at their meetings.

Mathematics

The Math Department was full of excitement this past year. Suspense was a part of it, too . . . would there be substitutes or would there not? Mr. Joseph J. Urbancek, the chairman of the department, had his worries.

Betty Brelin and Mary Kirkpatrick, teachers in the department, both passed the high school teachers' examinations and were assigned to Waller High and Kelvyn Park High, respectively.

Substitutes were slow in arriving, and the burden of the Math courses was on the shoulders of Elaine Drews (CTC '45), John Kelly (CTC '41), and Mr. Urbancek. The subs finally came in the persons of Lorraine O'Brien (CTC '44) and William Coyne (CTC '43).

Science

From the squeal of guinea pigs to the odor of preserved cats our Science Department stresses scientific experiments. Each teacher presents material for classroom use and material about recent discoveries. Botany has a green-house with adjoining classrooms where plants are studied in their entirety. In Zoology the students study and dissect preserved specimens and learn about hereditary characteristics. Genetics, Microbiology, and Physical Science are among other courses offered. With all this background our graduates are capable of teaching science in schools and doing research.

PSYCHOLOGY • MATHEMATICS • SCIENCE

Physical Education

The Physical Education Department is said to have worked harder than usual this year to give the P.E. minors the knowledge necessary for them to become successful teachers.

Mr. Joseph Kripner, the chairman of the department, Miss Bernice Boye, Miss Gertrude Byrne, and Mrs. Nellie B. Cochran trained the P.E.M.'s, kept the other students in good physical condition, and fostered good sportsmanship and clean play.

Mrs. Cochran was busy teaching girls and fellows alike the fundamentals of swimming and life-saving; Mr. Kripner was the P.E. practice teaching seminar leader; Miss Byrne attended to P.E. minors in addition to keeping WAA rolling smoothly; and Miss Boye was kept hopping teaching regular gym classes.

Seated: Nellie B. Cochran, Bernice Boye.

Standing: Frank Svarc, Gertrude Byrne, Joseph Kripner.

Seated: Ruth Dyrud.

Standing: Howard K. Morse, Henry G. Geilen, Arturo Fallico.

Art

The purpose of CTC's colorful Art Department is well-defined in the following statement by Mr. Geilen, director of the department. "Art is an activity of mankind that is in response to a fundamental and natural demand of human nature. Therefore, it becomes a necessary requirement in any well-balanced educational program. Because of the efforts of the early Presidents of the Chicago Teachers College, the Art Department has a well-established function in the training program of the College. All students are required to take four semester hours, in which the aim is to further the students' active and effective participation in art, both from the standpoint of personal accomplishments, and the ability to teach this subject successfully in the elementary schools of Chicago. The department also offers a minor sequence for those wishing to specialize."

Home Economics

CTC has the distinction of being one of the first colleges in the country to require all students to take courses in nutrition and family life. Through these courses the Home Economics Department contributes to effective home living. Additional specialized training is given to students taking a minor in Home Mechanics. Acquiring skills is but one phase of this work. Acquiring an understanding of consumer buying problems, health practices, family social activities, and care of food, clothing, and furnishings is emphasized in the sequence. One of our popular teachers, Miss O'Sullivan, left CTC to become director of the Richards Trade School for Girls. Substituting in her place is Mrs. O'Hagan.

Mary E. Freeman, Gertrude O'Hagan, Edwina Grieser.

Elmer Morrow, Clarence Bydalek.

The Industrial Arts faculty consists of Mr. Morrow, Mrs. Sterchele, and Mr. Bydalek. This department, together with the Home Economics Department, offers the Home Mechanics sequence. Minors in this field are well-equipped to teach Home Mechanics courses in the elementary schools.

A co-operative policy is also maintained with the Science, Art, and Kindergarten-Primary Departments. Students from the latter are instructed in the use of audio-visual aids.

In the past few years there has been much discussion about plastics. This department believes that all teachers should have some acquaintance with this new product. Consequently, an introduction to plastics is given all students in the required Industrial Arts course.

Industrial Arts

Miss Ellen M. Olson and Miss Dorothy Willy comprise the faculty of the Kindergarten-Primary Department. Here students concentrate on the area of early childhood which is recognized widely as one of the most important fields in education. There is much opportunity for direct contact with children, as in the nursery school, in play and rhythms, in reading and other phases of language development, in excursions, etc. The department believes that the importance of good beginnings in early childhood cannot be overemphasized.

The Class of June, '47, departs with the odd distinction of having completed what almost never began. Confusing? As late as August, 1943, these students who are now seniors were studying for entrance exams, with no certainty that the exams would be offered that year. Late in September, however, the official word came through, and by October, oral exams, too, were over. The Class of '47 was launched — 180 strong, including fourteen — count 'em — fourteen men! By spring, the number of men had dwindled to four, the armed forces having absorbed the rest. The class struggled through the last six-hour Social Science course to be offered at the College. After they had completed the first year's work, there was a change in the curriculum. As sophomores, they began to specialize in their chosen majors. They looked forward to practice-teaching in the fall of '45, but again the curriculum was changed. By their Junior year, they gained a reputation for originality, and proved deserving of it by sponsoring a school-wide "Bootie-Appeal" contest — entrance fee: your baby picture. The winners were honored at a special Valentine's Day assembly. By the end of that year, their "majors" were "minors," due to a slight change in the curriculum. In September, 1946, some went out to practice, while others stayed and studied and tried to accustom themselves to the sight of men in their classes again. This, their senior year, was highlighted by the presentation of an original musical comedy, the Senior Prom at the Congress Hotel, and, in spite of time, tide, and curriculum changes, graduation in June, 1947.

One year to go and the Class of '48 will be "on its own." Rumors are going around that its members are ready, willing, and definitely able. After settling down to class routine this year, these socially-minded future pedagogues entertained the Freshmen at a picnic at Promontory Point. In October, witches and goblins galore were in evidence at a successful class party, "The Cat's Meow." Winter months saw eager preparation for THE big event . . . the Junior Prom, held at the Stevens Hotel. In January, the class held its annual theater party. Mothers were entertained at a Spring Luncheon in April. Getting acquainted with pre-graduation plans, the Juniors entertained the Seniors at a May luncheon, bringing to a close another active, successful year.

Our main goals—Coordination, Service, Election, Investigation, and Red Cross—were preserved and enlarged.

The Faculty-Student Council meetings were an outstanding achievement. Our Council joined those of other schools through The National Students' Organization.

The year began with a comprehensive Freshmen Orientation . . . Faculty-Freshmen Tea . . . Colonel Handbook . . . Sponsors . . . Coke Date . . . Information Booth . . . Freshmen Picnic . . . School-wide Open House.

The year's activities included the Fall Hayride . . . a Pep Rally . . . Socials after the games . . . Friday After-Class Socials . . . S.S HOME-COMING . . . and The Dunes Junket.

Council's busy year included a lunchroom clean-up . . . a lounge clean-up . . . an anti-smoking campaign . . . supervision of School Elections . . . the organization of the Freshman Class . . . transportation to off-campus games . . . Committee Book . . . and Cheer Contest.

Homecoming

March 7th saw a cruise of Student Council's S.S. HOMECOMING. The cafeteria was ship-shape with "Little Colonels" masquerading as sailors. A smorgasbord dinner was spiced with the salty humor of emcee, Jack Iorio. School yells rang through the rafters as the varsity team defeated the Alumni. Then S.S. HOMECOMING glided into port to the strains of Jim Barclay's music.

Captain Ed Kearney and his efficient crew can look back with pride at that smooth trip. The ship's log records a list of mighty happy passengers.

Choir

One hundred voices, including male students for the first time since 1941, constitute one of CTC's largest organizations. The choir, sponsored by Dr. Cramer, began its season with an October breakfast with many faculty guests present. In the Madonna Contest, Margaret Glauser was chosen to represent the Madonna, and she was featured at the Christmas program. This was followed by traditional carol singing.

The 1947 activities included the January Commencement, the National Brotherhood Week program, the ACE tea, the Pan-American program, the Annual Spring Concert, and the dinner given by Phi Alpha and the choir in honor of Miss Peickert. A picnic closed the social season, and the final appearance was at the June Commencement.

The story of the 1947 Emblem is one which contains all the drama and suspense of a mystery thriller. In fact, much of the time while this book was being prepared, there was a real and genuine mystery . . . would there be an Emblem or not? Orchids to our sponsor, Mary Kirkpatrick, whose efforts and accomplishments solved this mystery and to whom we owe much of the success of this book.

The Emblem was persistently straddling the financial fence, when our advertising manager, Charles Johnson, and his staff gave it a boost and sent Emblem "over the top" to financial success. Editor Elaine Gade's very optimism and faith in the ability of her staff made Emblem a reality. The editors, managers, and members of the Emblem staff express their gratitude to Miss Dyrud, our new faculty sponsor, and to the student body for their co-operation, as they give to you the new and greater 1947 EMBLEM!!

Tempo began operations this year with a staff that had been cut to ribbons by graduation last June. Lea Bertani, editor-in-chief for the fall semester, began a policy designed to make the paper more readable and more representative of the school. With the co-operation of interested students, editorial features were expanded, and the "Letters to the Editor" and "Tillie Tells" columns were added.

Matt King, editor for the spring semester, continued this policy and introduced the "Verse and Reverse" column and more pictures and cartoons. Miriam Huford presided over the feature section, and Ann Nicholson was in charge of news-gathering. The reappearance of men at CTC made sports news more prominent, and when Ed Kearney became managing editor, Sam Altschuler became sports editor.

Tempo's heading of May 20:

"TEMPO WINS ALL-AMERICAN RATING."

Phi Alpha

Phi Alpha is a musical organization whose members are music majors and whose sponsors are the music faculty. The main purpose of Phi Alpha is to give musically-minded students a better understanding of the world of music, past and present.

Phi Alpha started the year with a tea for the introduction of its new officers. Other activities included a Christmas party, a tea with Miss Peickert as guest speaker, a meeting with Mrs. Gilliland of Wilson Jr. College as guest speaker, and an annual dinner which was held in honor of Miss Peickert who retired at the end of the semester.

ACE

In the past, our student branch of Association for Childhood Education has drawn its members largely from the kindergarten-primary department. This year, however, there were many members from the elementary department, including some of CTC's G.I.'s. That they were a valuable addition to the organization was demonstrated at the October meeting, where the program consisted of a panel by six veterans of various theaters of war, speaking of the children and the educational customs that they had observed around the world.

The theme of the year, "Co-operative Effort for Children," was carried out through a series of guest speakers, featuring some of our own faculty members. The National Convention in Oklahoma City was the climax of an active, progressive year.

Fellowship

An organization which hardly needs an introduction is Fellowship, a group which practices fellowship and brings charity to many needy persons. It is an outstanding group when its deeds and activities are summed up. The year starts with a Freshman Tea welcoming all newcomers. This year the Silver Tea helped out the Milk Fund and a Tag Day netted the organization seventy-five dollars. Christmas baskets were given to a nearby church for distribution. Accentuating the interest of the members of the Hallowe'en dance, "Black Magic," the trimming of the Christmas tree, bridge lessons, and a charm school.

KME and Math Club

Meeting twice each month with lectures on varied subjects correlated with math, we have KME and the Math Club. Lectures are given by visitors, teachers, and students. Demonstrations are offered with the "slip stick" (slide rule) and interesting games involving math are played. Members are initiated into KME using the nationally accepted ceremony. The year's events include an annual picnic, and they are topped off by the annual banquet. A National Convention at Illinois State Teachers College was the big event this year with officers and members of Chicago Teachers College KME attending.

Art Guild

Seated: Bernadine Buckley, Joan Hussey, Miss Dyrud, Florita Laughlin, Chairman; Mr. Morse, Jim Morley, Charmion Conn.

"ART FOR ALL" is the purpose of the Art Guild under the sponsorship of Henry Geilen. Membership in the club is open to all CTC students. Art Minors automatically become members. Each Fall the Guild sponsors a tea for freshmen. Last March a colorful exhibition of student work was hung in the foyer. Media included pencil, charcoal, oil, watercolor, clay, stenciling, blockprinting, woodwork, and marionettes. A second exhibit, in May, featured paintings by outside artists.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club is under the sponsorship of Dr. Henrietta Fernitz. Its officers are Grace Nora, chairman and Joseph Duffy, secretary. The objective of the club for this year was to have discussions on the topic: "American Foreign Policy in Relation to England, Germany, Italy, China, Russia, and South America." The club has devoted its meetings to round table discussions and talks by Dr. Mogilvutsky of Loyola and Mr. Kaiser on this subject. In addition to the above mentioned objective, the International Relations Club has taken up other pertinent issues and items of interest which have arisen during the year. One such topic was a report on the Midwest I.R.C. Conference in Indiana.

Seated: Dorothy Krupa, Marilynn Kinsella, Mary Kay McHale, Doris McAllister, Grace Nora, Dr. Fernitz, Joe Duffy, Joan Jordan, Bette Whalen, Pat Baker, Rich Thompson.

Mu Beta Phi, the science fraternity at CTC, records forty-two registered members who meet monthly at the college for the purpose of extra-curricular scientific pursuits.

Their social calendar opened with trips to the Museum of Science and Industry for lectures on "Embryology" and "The Transparent Woman." In December, the fraternity held a wiener roast at Promontory Point, followed by a dinner meeting later in the month, featuring Dr. Sanders, the sponsor, who spoke on "New Frontiers." A trip to Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wisconsin, proved to be the highlight of the year.

PEM Club

The PEM Club, consisting of Physical Education Majors, welds its members into a unified group for the betterment of physical education. The sponsor is Mr. Joseph Kripner, and the advisory council consists of Miss Gertrude Byrne, Mrs. Nellie Cochran, Miss Louise Robinson, and Miss Bernice Boye.

PEM's objectives are: to promote scholastic achievement, to promote school activities, and to inform members of innovations in the field of physical education.

Among the club's activities were demonstrations and discussions of current programs. Notables in the field, Mr. Claussen and Mr. Kiefer, appeared before the club. PEM's spring plans included Golf Day, Play Day, a barn dance, a splash party, and the traditional initiation party for incoming P.E. Majors.

Seated: Jane Harless, Dolores Gorski, Doris Morrison, Ruth Geduldig, Joseph Kripner, John Smith, Gus Ziaqos, Roberta Burgess, Mary Lou Pfister, Frances Kolinski, Gwen Neufeld, Marilyn Roberts.

Home Economics Club

Home Mechanics minors are offered a variety of activities through membership in the Home Economics Club. Interesting lectures, parties and the annual spring dinner are among the events on the calendar. The climax of the year was the Midwestern Convention of Home Economics Students in Chicago during March. Spring brought picnics and other festivities.

Orchestra

Orchestra members had a full program this year. In addition to playing for assemblies, they contributed to the Christmas Program, graduation exercises, the Senior Play, the South American Program, and the Spring Festival.

Activities outside of school included a Christmas program for the Veterans Hospital at Downey, Illinois, a community program at the Englewood Methodist Church in March with Mr. Swearingen as guest speaker; and an Easter program at the Englewood Presbyterian Church which rounded out a busy and successful year.

Senior Play

"Call It College," an original three-act comedy written and directed by Grace Nora, was something new in senior class presentations. The play dealt lightly and cleverly with life and love at historic Pulse Normal, the seat of dignity and tradition. Tradition was upset and dignity definitely unseated by the cast and the colorful chorus. The original score and adaptations were done by Janice Kahn, and Gertrude Leifer directed the music.

DIRECTORS

Seated: Doris McAllister, Gertrude Leifer, Grace Nora.

The Sophomore Class has been an active class, sponsoring at least one activity each month. In September there was a picnic at the Point. The Freshmen were guests at a barnyard jamboree in October. White City was the scene of the skating party in November. In December the class had a closed Christmas party. The entire school was invited to attend the January Theater Party, "Song of Norway." The big event of the Sophomore season was the Valentine Dance held at the Belden Stratford Hotel. Spring activities, in keeping with the season, included a Bowling Party in March, a Splash Party in April, and a Sox night game in May. Perhaps the most unique feature about the Sophomore class was that each member of the class served on one committee during the year.

The Class of June, 1950, is the largest class in school and boasts the majority of the male enrollment. The frosh started their college careers in a lively manner.

Freshmen dominated both the baseball and basketball teams. Don Trahey, former all-state basketball player, was high scoring man on our team. Other celebrities were Virginia Glauser, who was a member of "Ice-Capades," and three men attached to the White Sox Ball Team.

A picnic was sponsored by and for the entire class. The big event of the year was the "Spring Caprice" dance held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel on April eleventh.

Sports

WAA

Birds flying in badminton tournaments . . . records smashed in swimming meets . . . balls bouncing in Latin-American Rhythms . . . bat and ball connecting in softball . . . these are some of WAA's activities.

Sponsored by Miss Gertrude Byrne, WAA rolled into a successful year with its Freshman party in October. Representatives from each activity gave a sketch of their sport. Pins of achievement were awarded to those who had earned them last year.

The school year ended happily with the Annual WAA Banquet where this year's awards were presented. All CTC girls are invited to join this "treat of treats" where there is always good fun.

MAA

MAA this year took significant steps toward regaining its pre-war position. President Jim Murphy and Secretary-Treasurer Mike McLaughlin inaugurated the year's activities with the ol' traditional freshmen initiation ceremony. A pushball contest highlighted the event, and the solemn ceremony of kissing the school climaxed an "on-all-fours" pilgrimage from the auditorium.

Reviving the "good old days," the MAA held its first post-war intramural touchfootball tournament, and in December it crowned "the Barons" champions.

Basketball

The Colonels completed a successful season which was forecast at their turnout of cage talent, the largest in five years. With only four veterans of last year's team, the squad was composed mainly of Freshmen.

No one group could be called the first team. Highest scorer was Dan Trahey who paced the Colonel attack with 226 points. Following were Spin Salario and Bill Dillon with 153 and 115 points respectively. Other high scorers were Marty Gray, Bill McGraw, and Mike McLaughlin.

The Colonels' record shows two victories over Concordia (River Forest) and single wins over Concordia (Milwaukee), Illinois Tech, Aurora, and George Williams. To offset these six wins there were eleven defeats, but the Colonels had their most successful record since 1942.

Colonels' opponent tries to block an attempted shot for the basket.

All eyes on the ball as Taylor of The Colonels makes a try.
